

Peterson Builders' Home Highlighted in 2012 Parade of Homes

Peterson Builders proudly represented Ogden Valley with an amazing home featured in the 2012 Northern Wasatch Parade of Homes. Their fourth featured home in the Parade of Homes, this year's Parade custom design-build Durfee Creek home is located in Liberty. Peterson Builders has been in business since 1976 and built their first entry for the Parade of Homes in 1993. This home was also the first entry seen in Ogden Valley at that time. Peterson Builders was honored to bring home The People's Choice Award.

Peterson Builders was founded by Lynn Peterson of Eden, and is run today by him and his two sons—Jason and Ben Peterson. The company specializes in custom homes and remodel projects. Lynn, Jason, and Ben have a heritage of happy customers with every home they build as indicated by 36 years of quality built homes. According to Lynn, the business' goal is to insure each client's expectations are not only met, but surpassed. In their 36 years of business, they to prove that. Valley residents Tom and Sherrie Pattillo stated, "We were impressed from the initial meeting with Lynn; not only did we have an unbelievable outcome, but we also gained some very good friends. Their expertise, quality of work, and customer service was remarkable."

Peterson Builders is based in the Ogden Valley, but they build homes all along the Wasatch Front. As a custom builder, Peterson Builder has the flexibility to build at about any price range. They can balance the needs and desires of their customers and their budgets, and are flexible and willing to listen to new ideas.

Having been in the construction business for 36 years, potential customers have the opportunity to see how the homes built by Peterson Builders have stood up over time. As you drive through Ogden Valley, there is always a Peterson home standing tall and "Professionally Built with Integrity." This year's Parade of Homes entry is just another great example of this.
